Communities engage in planning activities to help guide future decisions. Planning can include land use, housing, transportation, economic development, and other key areas that shape a community. Local food system development is a new area of focus in planning—both nationally and in Douglas County.

This community plan, for the first time, provides strategic recommendations to help guide the development of the local food system in Douglas County, Kansas. Several themes emerged from the community in creating this plan:

- Build relationships and understanding across the urban-rural divide
- Find balance across the goals
- Respect individual rights while upholding the common good
- Implement actions and policies based upon community context

The plan was created as part of the process to update the Lawrence-Douglas County Comprehensive Plan (see insert box below), and sets a framework for the next 10 years to guide policy changes by our local governments, to shape the work of the Douglas County Food Policy Council (DCFPC), and to inspire community actions and partnerships.

We hope you find something in this plan that excites and inspires you! If you do, please join us in building a more robust local food system. See Moving the Plan Forward, page 11, for how you can get involved.

Formed in 2010, the Douglas County Food Policy Council (DCFPC) is a body of 23 stakeholders from across the local food system, appointed by the Douglas County and City of Lawrence Commissioners. The Council advises these elected officials on food-related policy issues and provides a community forum for local food system development Learn more at www.douglascountyks.org/fpc

Comprehensive plans, such as Horizon 2020, establish policies and guidelines for how a community will change over time. While updating the Lawrence-Douglas County Comprehensive Plan, nineteen topics were identified as important to include in the revision. These were summarized in an Issue Action Report. Two issues directed the creation of the Douglas County Food System Plan:

- Issue 13: Enhance Agricultural Uses & Rural Character in Douglas County
- Issue 14: Encourage/Support Local Food System Development

Based on these issues, the DCFPC was asked to develop a set of goals, objectives, and policies. The Report directed the DCFPC to “ensure the master plan is fitting the true needs of the community.” This Food System Plan will be incorporated by reference into the comprehensive plan. This means that although composed separately, the Food System Plan also functions as part of the comprehensive plan.
Our local food system includes how we produce, buy, eat, and dispose of food in Douglas County. The journey our food takes from field to plate is influenced by ecosystems, education, culture, funding, research, and public policies. Working together can lead to many benefits in our community. This work includes strengthening connections between area producers and consumers to keep food dollars local.

What does local mean?
This report does not explicitly define “local.” It is important to remember that developing our local food system is not a choice between 100% locally-produced food or 100% imported food. The Douglas County Food Policy Council (DCFPC) has decided to not set a working definition of “local” for the Council’s work (such as grown only in Douglas County, or grown within 200 miles of Lawrence). Nationally, we see a trend towards letting institutions, like a school district, set their own local definition — not public policymakers. Regardless, the DCFPC serves as an entity to reduce barriers and support local food connections to benefit Douglas County residents.

What benefits can come from a strong local food system?

Economic vitality
- Profitable agricultural businesses
- Successful food entrepreneurs
- Good jobs and career opportunities

Wellness
- Access to nourishing foods
- Food and gardening skills
- Great tasting local produce

Ecological resiliency
- Healthy and abundant soils and waters
- Ability to endure extreme weather events
- Waste reduction and reuse

Equity
- Good food for all
- Celebration of diversity
- Empowerment and inclusion

Throughout this plan, you’ll find key data points about our local food system. For a more comprehensive look at our food system, review the 2017 Douglas County Food System Assessment.

www.douglascountyks.org/fpc
Nearly a year’s worth of community effort led to the creation of this plan. The DCFPC oversaw a robust community engagement process and conducted a secondary data review of our food system — from agricultural production to health to economic impact. The DCFPC collaborated closely with the Sunrise Project Community Coordinators, who assisted with targeted story collection within Lawrence. DCFPC staff also researched food systems planning examples in other communities.

Throughout the summer and fall of 2016, a wide range of community members helped identify needs, barriers, and topics of interest to address with this plan. The public engagement efforts included:

- 13 focus groups with community organizations
- 7 Community Coordinators reaching over more than 200 residents
- 480 respondents to a Lawrence Listens survey
- 5 public forums throughout Douglas County

Based upon community input and background data, the DCFPC and Community Coordinators came to consensus around five working goals, using the criteria framework described at right. From there, a draft plan was released to the public in January 2017, open for comments. Over the next five months, the groups worked with staff to review and refine the plan, including sharing it with elected officials and community partners. Technical assistance was provided during this review stage from PolicyLink and Public Health Law Center. Each step along the way informed the final plan before you today.

The Food System Plan will serve as a guidance document for City of Lawrence and Douglas County for the next 10 years, 2017-2027. Success in implementing the objectives and policies depends upon the work of many different actors throughout our local food system.

ROLE OF THE DOUGLAS COUNTY FOOD POLICY COUNCIL

As an advisory body, the Douglas County Food Policy Council (DCFPC) will serve as the principle implementation body for the Food System Plan. Staff members from Lawrence and Douglas County will support the DCFPC to accomplish its work. Once adopted, the DCFPC and staff will oversee an on-going process to:

- Prioritize initiatives, including creating work timelines and identifying available resources.
- Clarify responsibility for working on specific actions.
- Assess progress and identify indicators to track progress.
- Maintain community engagement, identifying community partners to collaborate with for specific initiatives — with particular attention to health equity and the sustainability of adopted policies, practices, and programs.
- Ensure accountability in meeting goals and objectives.
